'Looking out for our neighbours'

phase 4: targeting young people

Update prepared for the Voluntary, Community and Social Enterprise (VCSE) sector

'Looking out for our neighbours' aims to prevent loneliness and its associated health issues by encouraging communities to look after vulnerable people thus reducing demand on health and care services through early help and preventing ill health. The campaign aims to inspire communities to engage in simple activities and micro-wellbeing interventions that will create positive impact. Launching in March 2019, the campaign has focused on encouraging communities to look after vulnerable people with a focus on elderly and families with young children.

We're preparing to launch phase four from mid-September and this time the focus will be young people. Through this campaign we hope to encourage young people to look out for each other and inspire a sense of kindness. By launching #SpreadTheKindness and asking young people to step up by performing random acts of kindness or simply writing a kind message to a friend we will be helping those young people who are feeling lonely or isolated know they are not alone.

If you support young people (roughly those aged between 15 and 25) or you know a lot of young people use or comes into contact with your service, please contact: Saleem.saleem@magpiecomms.com and he'll tell you how to get involved.

We're not asking much this time round all we need you to do is #SpreadTheKindness.

Could you be a Digital Support Volunteer?

With an ambitious programme of support for older people, we are launching a new Tablet Loan scheme and a Digital Support Service.

This role can be tailored to your situation but can include:

- Visiting people in their own homes to set up their first tablet and give them useful hints and tips.
- Supporting a 'Tech Table' at public events, where people ask for help with their own equipment and enquire about the loan scheme.

Join us for the latest in our Eat Up Stand Up... events, "Eat Up Stand Up for our Planet".

These events focus around a social justice topic, with our latest offering focusing on the question:

"How do we make a positive environmental impact in our local communities?"

Attendees will receive a home-cooked meal* and pudding under a "pay as you feel" basis. Everyone is welcome and we will have kids activities available on the evening too.

Once we have eaten we will be joined by our Guest Speaker, Matt Gordon of Appletree Community Garden, who will lead the discussion around how we can improve our environmental footprint across the local region.

This will be followed by a Q&A open discussion around the points raised and give all attendees plenty of food for thought on the differences we can all make in our local area.

This is a free to attend event, we simply require pre-booking so we can plan food accordingly.

Bring your friends and family along for a great evening, meeting like-minded people from across your community who want to be the change we all want to see.

*meal will be vegan, gluten and dairy free. Please talk to a member of staff on the day regarding allergens.
